(By United Press)
Soutville, Va., Dec. 26.—Nine known dead, six missing and 19 in hospitals is the toll of a flood at Karmertown, below here, when the Matheson Alkali works dam burst on Christmas eve.

LIST OF DEAD MISSING NOW 20

Soutville, Va., Dec. 26.—Thirteen bodies have been recovered and seven are still missing in the wake of the flood when the river burst through its bonds at Karmertown.

Fifteen homes in the Little Bell settlement crumbled before the white muck torrent which raced down when the alkali works dam gave way. The entire valley was inundated with mud and water and debris when the storage dam went to pieces.

Nineteen injured were treated in emergency hospitals. Several, exposed in the icy flood, have developed pneumonia and may die. Some were burned by the alkali and mud.

Scores have been rendered homeless by the flood and have been given shelter by their neighbors, providentially spared. The death toll, including missing, may amount to twenty. Rescue workers are searching shores and bottoms for any further victims.

J. ADAM BEDE FINDS 'BOB' LA FOLLETTE MENTIONED IN BIBLE

J. Adam Bede, former congressman from the eighth district, and nationally known humorous Chautauqua lecturer, sprung a surprise on St. Paul friends while visiting there.

"I have just discovered," he said, "where Sen. La Follette is mentioned in the Bible."

He naturally was questioned, and then told his quizzers to look in the first book of Samuel, chapter xxii, verse 2. This is what they found:

"And everyone that was in distress, and everyone that was in debt, and everyone that was discontented gathered themselves unto him, and he became captain over them, and there were with him about 400 men."

"Who else could that be but La Follette?" smiled J. Adam.

DEATH TOLL FROM CHRISTMAS FIRE GROWING LARGER

32 KNOWN DEAD IN OKLAHOMA
SCHOOL, SOME OF 37 HURT
MAY DIE

200 TRAPPED IN BUILDING WHEN LIGHTED CANDLE STARTS BLAZE

Hobart, Okla., Dec. 26.—With 32 known dead and 37 injured in hospitals as a result of a tragic fire in a small frame schoolhouse seven miles south of here at a Christmas party grief-stricken residents of the school community today made plans to bury their dead.

The joys of Christmas forgotten relatives of men, women and children cremated in the inferno resulting when a small candle ignited the pines of the large Christmas tree from which a Santa Claus was distributing presents, wandered about the streets here today.

Tears were in their eyes as they left the hospitals and homes, where those trampled and seared by the flames were rushed in wagons and automobiles last night for medical attention.

Many of the injured are expected to die.

Remaining members of families looked with tearful eyes at the remains removed from the embers of the small one-story building in a hopeless effort to identify them.

A mass meeting will be held in the public square here to make funeral arrangements. One funeral service probably will be held for all the victims.

Identification of all the victims will be impossible.

The following dead had been identified this morning:
Mrs. Florence Hill, teacher of the school.

Paul Silas Peck, schoolboy.
Juanita Clemens.
Mary Lois Clemens.
Nina and Gladys Clemens.
Giles Bolding.
Powell Bolding.
Eugene Bolding.
Charles Bolding.
Vesta Jackson.
A. F. Coffey.
Mina Duke.
John D. Duke, Jr.
Bud and Carrie Biggers, school children.

Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Coffey and their two children.

Packed to capacity with residents of Babb's Switch, neighboring community, the small one-story frame building suddenly became a death trap when flames, started from a lighted candle on a large Christmas tree, swept the building.

Panic-stricken, the crowd, estimated at 200 men, women and children, swamped the only exit, shrieking and fainting as the flames seared the flesh of those nearest the blazing tree.

More than a score of badly burned were rushed to local hospitals and homes in automobiles and wagons. The community is without hospital or ambulance facilities.

Physicians from neighboring cities learning of the tragedy, began arriving here early in automobiles to lend assistance in caring for the injured. Drug stores were ransacked in the early morning hours for bandages and medicine to relieve the suffering. The sleet-covered ground made rescue work slow and difficult.

"It was a roaring hell," Andrew Jackson, who managed to escape, said. "The windows were heavily screened and only the three-foot door was available for exit."

"I could hear them screaming and moaning with pain as I desperately tried to pull some of them through the door. There were so many trying to get out at once that I could pull only three or four out."

"The building was alive with flames and burned so quickly I can't realize that more were not killed."

The Christmas program had been completed and Santa Claus had just left at points in Nevada.

LAW BANS CHANCE IN PUZZLE AWARD

POSTAL CODE MAKES GIVING OF PRIZES FOR SOLUTIONS IN ORDER RECEIVED ILLEGAL

Washington, Dec. 24.—The Post-office department ruled today that the offering of prizes by newspapers and other publications for solution of crossword puzzles in the order such solutions are received violates the postal laws. The practice, it was held, prohibits such publications from being circulated in the mails.

Notification was sent by the department to the postmaster at Richmond, Va., that a newspaper there offering prizes under such conditions should be deprived of the mailing privilege.

Postal officials point out that the element of chance enters into such an award of prizes and thereby places the publication of such contests under the ban laid down in section 482 of the postal laws and regulations.

Under the section newspapers or other publications of any kind, circulars, and pamphlets, containing advertisements of lotteries, gift enterprises or similar plans, offering prizes dependent in whole or in part on lot or chance, or lists of the prizes awarded in pursuance of such schemes, and all other matter relating to them are declared to be unlawful.

In the case of the Richmond paper the contention was made by a reader who complained to the Postoffice Department that persons submitting answers were required to take them to the newspaper office between certain hours of a specified day, where they were stamped in the order in which they were handed in, the names of the winner to be announced later.

The complaint said that as it was possible for a clerk to pick up one correct answer before another or for some person competing for the prize to file his answer before another contestant, the element of chance entered into the contest.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

R. R. LABOR BOARD PUTS UP A FIGHT

RESENTS EFFORTS TO LEGISLATE
IT OUT OF EXISTENCE

SUPPORTERS OF HOWELL-BARKLEY BILL READY FOR BATTLE

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 26.—With House leaders and supporters of the Howell-Barkley bill, abolishing the Railroad Labor Board, determined to wage a finished fight over enactment of the measure, a mass of legislation of national scope and sectional interest is destined to certain death.

Unless either side retreats from its position, more than 100 bills, many of which are "pet" measures of various congressmen, will die with the fall of Speaker Gillette's gavel at noon March 4.

The railroad bill, under its peculiar parliamentary status, can only come before the House on the first and third Mondays of each month, the same days designated for consideration of calendar bills. Its present position is at the head of this calendar and the announcement of opponents of the bill to every existing parliamentary maneuver to defeat it. A passage, indicates that remaining bills on the calendar will not be reached this session. Only five calendar days remain between now and March 4.

In the pile of bills which cannot be considered by the House until the Howell-Barkley bill is disposed of are the following:

To prevent the oil pollution of navigable rivers.

To punish the unlawful transmission in interstate commerce or through the mails of gambling machines, fraudulent devices, pistols and revolvers.

To regulate transportation of labor in interstate commerce.

To authorize appropriations for the construction of hangars and maintenance of flying fields for the use of the air-mail service of the Post Office Department.

To authorize the Postmaster-General to continue the existing government-owned and operated mail-service.

To encourage commercial aviation and to authorize the Postmaster-General to contract for air-mail service.

To promote peace and to equalize the burdens and to minimize the profits of war.

To authorize an appropriation for the Secretary of Agriculture to purchase and distribute valuable seeds.

To purchase the Oldroyd collection of Lincoln relics, the greatest in number and most important in value of any single collection in existence.

To authorize the erection of a monument here to symbolize the game of baseball.

To establish an Alaska game commission to protect game animals, land fur-bearing animals and birds in Alaska.

To enlarge the Stanislaus National Forest, California, the Umatilla, Walla and Whitman National Forests, Oregon, the Nevada National Forest.

To provide for the establishment of a probation system in United States courts.

To investigate the feasibility of establishing a national military park in Kansas City, Mo., commemorative of the Battle of Westport, October 23, 1864.

A number of bills granting the consent of congress to various cities and towns throughout the country to construct and operate bridges and dams also are awaiting their turn on the calendar.

A prognosticator tells us that, if the use of typewriters spreads at the present rate the noble art of penmanship will disappear in some 50 years. Many of us won't grieve over the lost art if the cult of spelling comes into its own once again.—Detroit Free Press.

CALLS MARRIAGES
UNDER 21 FAILURE

SCIENTIST SAYS MAJORITY OF CRIMINALS RESULT OF EARLY WEDDINGS

Chicago, Dec. 26.—If one does not run chances of becoming a moron one should be born to an elderly couple. And if you do arrange to be the offspring of persons well along in life your chances for greatness are excellent.

This is the conclusion of Casper L. Redfield, Chicago scientist, who announced an educational campaign to have state legislatures enact laws prohibiting marriage under the age of 21.

Redfield said he had been making his investigations for almost 50 years and hopes that every state legislative body will enact laws against wedlock for minors.

"Last year there were 3,000 marriages of couples under 15 years of age," Redfield said. "From this class come the principal part of our criminals, paupers and prostitutes. In 12 states it is legal for 12-year-old girls and 14-year-old boys to marry."

"Chicago's crime wave would not have reached its present peak if marriage laws had been passed in Illinois 20 years ago. To prove his theory that many of the most distinctive men of history were born of parents well along in years, Redfield names Sir Francis Bacon, Charles Darwin, James Watt, John Wesley, Benjamin Franklin, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, Robert E. Lee and Henry Ward Beecher.

"The investigation has brought out another genealogical phenomenon," he declared. "The greatest aggressive war leaders have been the sons of young fathers, whose fathers before them were older men. Alexander the Great, Napoleon Bonaparte and Ulysses S. Grant are among these.

In his research Redfield has found that the eldest child is lighter in weight, dies at an earlier age and is more apt to become a criminal than any other children in a family.

IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Bob Vranish Pleads Guilty to Two Charges And is Fined $200 or 90 Days in Jail

Bob Vranish, of Cuyuna, was arraigned in municipal court on Wednesday afternoon on two liquor charges. He pleaded guilty to each, and was fined $100 or 90 days in jail on each charge, with costs amounting to $11.

The sheriff's officers raided the Vranish home on Tuesday evening, finding a quantity of mash as well as some liquor.

CLEVER ANNOUNCEMENT

Made by H. F. Michael Co. In Their Advertisement in Today's Dispatch

A very clever announcement is made by the H. F. Michael Co. in their advertisement today. The "teasers" which were issued by this company and placed about the city during the first days of the week caused many comments. These asked "what are you going to do with the 13th month." Their advertisement today suggests what may be done with the period of time they designate as the thirteenth month.

One feature of the advertisement which always appeals to women is the after Christmas sale of garments. Many women wait for these sales.

"HE WHO GETS SLAPPED"

Smashed Every Existing Record at the Capitol Theatre in New York

"He Who Gets Slapped" smashed every existing record at the Capitol theatre, New York, the week of November 9th, by grossing $15,130.45 on the opening day, and a total of $70,468.45 for the week. This gross, according to Edward Bowes, managing director of the Capitol, is $300 more than the previous high record made a few weeks ago by Buster Keaton's "The Navigator."

Though this week was the Capitol's anniversary, the theatre attributes the overwhelming draw to the feature production, "He Who Gets Slapped" which has Lon Chaney, Norma Shearer and John Gilbert sharing honors.

The pace with which this very popular picture started kept up through the week, indicating the film is one of the biggest box office winners of the year. Not only have crowds attending the picture shown unusual enthusiasm, but the New York reviewers have hailed it as a masterpiece.

At the new Lyceum theatre, Minneapolis, where it played the week of December 7th, "He Who Gets Slapped" did a tremendous business. Police reserves had to be called out to handle the crowds on the last night of the showing, and the theatre seats 2,500.

The Brainerd Lyceum theatre has selected this big feature picture as its opening attraction for its fourth anniversary week celebration, which starts on Sunday, December 28th.

Christmas Function For Members of Order, Santa Claus to be Present

Tonight at the Knights of Columbus hall the Women's Catholic order of Foresters will give a Christmas party for the members of the order. The entertainment committee has planned to have a tree and Santa Claus will be there with gifts for all. Refreshments will also be served so each member should make a special effort to be present to spend an enjoyable evening. Each member should remember to bring her parcel to help fill the gift box.

started taking presents from the large tree when a small candle toppled over and set fire to the dry pines of the tree.

The flames spread instantly and the tree toppled over on the persons sitting in the front row. They leaped screaming in terror.

Pandemonium followed as the entire crowd swamped the exit in their mad efforts to escape the roaring inferno.

Shouting at the top of his voice for the crowd to become calm, the man playing the role of Santa Claus stood on the small platform and is believed to have perished. His identity had not been learned early today.

The heroine was Mrs. Florence Hill, teacher of the little school. She, too, rose and attempted to calm the panic when she saw the candle fall.

She died trying to shelter some of the smallest children from the mad rush about the doorway.

33 MEN AND CHILDREN BURIED

Hobart, Okla., Dec. 26. — With Christmas but a haunting memory, the small community seven miles south of here faced the culmination of its fire horror, when 33 men and children are to be buried.

Last night the charred remains of a body believed to be that of Lilly Revill was removed from the embers of the fire which raged Christmas eve at the entertainment in District School No. 12. Bodies of those found are resting in black caskets.

Sixteen of the victims are to be buried at a union funeral service here this afternoon, the pastor of the Methodist church conducting the services. Grim faced men who escaped the flames which started when a tiny candle toppled into the dry needle pine, are digging graves in the frozen ground.

There was pathos in the tragedy when a large basket of toys arrived for the children this morning. Nearly 50 Muskogee children gathered at a mass meeting and sent their Christmas gifts to the little sufferers.

SIXTEEN BURIED THIS AFTERNOON

Hobart, Okla., Dec. 26.—Relatives of 16 of 33 persons who died in the Christmas eve fire held private funerals at the graves where the bodies lay in state. More than 2,000 residents of the vicinity poured out their hearts in sympathy for the stricken families.

Similar funerals for the remaining 17 will be held tomorrow.

Accompanied by their pastors, 17 of the 37 who escaped were discharged from hospitals. Nine physicians

ROTARY CLUB'S CHRISTMAS DINNER

Staples, Dec. 26.—The Staples Rotary club met Monday in the Congregational church parlors as usual and enjoyed a real Christmas dinner with a Christmas tree and all the beautiful decorations including place cards. The dinner included chicken and ended with sherbert and cake in a large helping.

The club was given a real treat when Mrs. Margaret Lono gave a reading. The young lady is a member of public speaking class of high school and her work reflected to a remarkable degree the training which she has received. Special sacred songs had been prepared and were sung during the meeting. Secretary George Beckett informed the members that Staples in point of attendance at the regular meetings is one of the leading clubs in the district.—Staples World.

Old Resident Given Up by Physicians

"Given up by five doctors, my only hope an operation. I rebelled on cutting me open, as I am 75 years old. A neighbor advised trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble. I got relief right away. I had not eaten for 10 days and was as yellow as a gold piece. I could have lived only a few days but for this medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Like cheap soft coal usually finds its way to the ultimate consumer ONCE, but once for the most of us is enough.

The poisonous nature of the one rivals the fire hazard of the other and discerning people should pay out good money for neither.

"KENTUCKY SPECIAL" COAL is NOT Moonshine

But it contains a powerful "kick" just the same. By "kick" we refer to the high percentage of heat units per ton, which after all determines the actual value of any coal, rather than the weight over the scale.

We sell "Kentucky Special" because we know it is the best soft coal that money can buy, high in heat units, clean and very low in ash.

We stand behind this coal with a guarantee of entire satisfaction, removing the coal from your bin without extra expense in case you should feel at all dissatisfied with its performance. We don't know how to make a stronger guarantee than this.

Order a Ton Today and Be the Judge

We also handle some cheaper soft coal at $10.00 and $11.00 per ton that we can assure you is better quality than most soft coal being offered at these prices.

VALUE OF COOPERATIVE MARKETING

MEMBERSHIP in the Minnesota Potato Growers Exchange passed the 13,700 point on December 18. Though new contracts are not coming in so fast as they were during the delivery season, every day sees a few new members on the official roll.

Isanti and Chisago counties take first honors so far, in the matter of home storage reports. Each is more than 85 per cent complete. A recent issue of the "Potato Grower" is devoted to a summary of what has been accomplished during the year now closing by the cooperatives of the state.

The record that has been established by the Central Cooperative Commission Company, the Minnesota Cooperative Creameries Association and the Minnesota Poultry and Egg Cooperative association, is one of which every farmer in the state should be proud.

Ten years ago cooperative marketing in Minnesota was in its infancy, says the "Potato Grower." Today, it has reached a position where its volume of business is larger than that of all the railroads in the state. And the railroads, in times past, always have been used as a "hitching post" when disciples of discontent sought to seek revenge upon "Big Business." Thus farmers, working with one another, have attained a position where they themselves have become proprietors of one of the biggest businesses in the state.

But the end is not yet. Cooperative marketing of farm produce must and will continue to grow and prosper until every pound of livestock, every bushel of produce and every ounce of dairy products are marketed through farmer owned channels.

Any movement that has stood the baptism of fire, as has cooperative marketing in Minnesota, must and will make a steady healthy growth until its ultimate goal is reached.

HAS WONDERFUL EYESIGHT

HILMER WILSON was in the Dispatch office the other day and showed a sample of his fine writing. Using a tissue paper and ordinary lead pencil, he ruled off in sixteenths an area equal to that of a postcard and on its surface then wrote the phrase, "The Star is the progressive paper," some 220 times. The six word sentence thus yielded 1,320 words in the space assigned.

Mr. Wilson has entered the contest of a Minneapolis paper and hopes to gain the prize by writing in the most words. He used no glasses in his writing feat. The writing is so fine that the average man needs a reading glass to decipher the script. With better paper and a better writing tool, Mr. Wilson is convinced he can add a few more lines and words and increase the contents. There have been many instances of "fine writing," but we doubt if any one in Brainerd, outside of an engraver or jeweler working with glasses and finer tools, has ever equalled Mr. Wilson's record.

KIDDIES of the city certainly had a glad introduction to the Christmas festivities, the Elks, New Park theatre, Lyceum theatre, Lions club, business interests of Brainerd and wholesale houses, Camp Fire Girls, Boy Scouts, and other city agencies contributing to make Wednesday a day long to be remembered in youthful annals. And every precaution was taken to avoid accidents or fire hazards.

THE deadly Christmas candle toppled from its fastening at the Oklahoma small district school holiday entertainment and more than 30 lost their lives. The community was probably not served by electricity. Had it been, then electric illumination of the tree would have obviated the fire disaster that occurred with the candles.

FRENCH and Germans are gradually approaching amicable relations in the world of sport. The other day a French football team visited the Rhineland and played the Teutons, the latter winning 6 to 2. In the world of music, however, no one has yet put on a German opera in Paris.

AND today you meet the woman, worn to a frazzle, getting out her Christmas gifts, who solemnly pledges she will begin such work next Fourth of July, so as to be on time, and promptly forgets all about her resolution before the New Year has a start.

BRAINERD had close to a 50 degree temperature switch when the government thermometer leaped from 24 below of Christmas day's minimum to 26 above Friday morning. We are now getting back to regular December weather.

AND what has become of the New Year resolutions that nearly everybody was supposed to make? It must be that the world has resolved to quit making them.

THE Reformatory Pillar, published at the institution in St. Cloud, printed a two-color holiday number.

"CHRISTMAS comes but once a year," which is the only consolation left to dad.

A MAN was recently shot in mistake for a bear, which is no surprise to the average wife, says the Baudette Region.

Roman Roads in Britain

The Romans built four roads in Britain which are still in use. What is known now as Watling street extended from Kent to Cardigan bay; Ikenild street from Saint Davids to Plymouth; Fosse way from Cornwall to Lincoln; Irvin street, from Saint Davids to Saint Hampton.

Strict British Law

When a woman motorist dropped a glass bottle on a highway in England recently she was compelled by a policeman to go back and pick up the pieces, then appear in court and pay a fine.

Economy in Envelope

If you seal your letter and find you have left out the inclosure, take the small end of a wooden penholder and insert under the right-hand end of the flap of the envelope. Then start to roll the penholder carefully across until you reach the other end. It will usually work splendidly.

Seemed Ideal Match

"When two people like the same things their married life is bound to be happy," sighed the fiancee. "Well, you and Mary ought to be happy," interposed his uncle, the uncle, "for I know she loves you—and you're very fond of yourself."

DESPITE POLITICS ITALY PROSPEROUS IN YEAR OF 1924

IN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
MANY NEW TREATIES WON FAME FOR MUSSOLINI

ASSASSINATION MARS THE REIGN OF THE FAS-CISTI

(By United Press)
Rome, Dec. 26.—Italy through 1924 was replete with marked political vicissitudes, favored with unusual diplomatic success and blessed with a large measure of industrial and commercial prosperity.

At the beginning of the year, Premier Mussolini's government enjoyed a popularity no other Italian government had enjoyed for decades. Toward the end, that popularity changed to an undisguised antipathy.

The old parliament, against which much had been said for its weakness, still held over, but in February by the King's decree, that parliament was dissolved and new elections ordered for April 6. The elections were held over under a new law, according to the provisions of which the party amongst the numerous Italian parties securing the largest number of votes would be allotted automatically 356 seats out of the 535 in the Italian Chamber of Deputies. The remaining 179 seats were to be divided amongst the whole of the remaining parties in proportion to the number of votes polled. The elections resulted in a Fascist victory, 356 Fascist deputies taking their places in parliament.

The new parliament met for the first time on May 23, opened in full ceremonial by King Victor. To add to the strict form, deputies were ordered to wear full dress suits, according to an old Italian usage. Mussolini and his ministers donned full ministerial uniforms. The King's message was delivered and was mainly devoted to an appeal to the spiritual unity of the country and internal tranquility.

Despite the two-thirds majority which the Fascists held, the sessions of the parliament were turbulent. The Socialists were the most numerous of the minority parties with a representation of 65. Their chief spokesman was a young deputy, representing the city of Rome, Giacomo Matteotti. He vehemently attacked the government for their repressive measures and was scheduled to make sensational exposures before the Chamber on June 10. On June 10, Deputy Matteotti was mysteriously kidnaped near his home and whirled into the Roman countryside. His disappearance remained a puzzle but it was generally concluded that he had been assassinated. Late in August, his body was found in a thicket, 18 miles from Rome. Several Fascist chiefs were arrested charged with complicity and several lesser chiefs with having perpetrated the bloody affair.

Fascist Party Weakened

From that incident, the prestige of the Fascist party began its decline. There was a complete turn in the popular mind. Succeeding events served to accentuate the repugnance. A strict press decree was passed and the right of freedom of assembly and speech curtailed. The local administrations in the provinces were in many cases dissolved and commissioners sent from Rome to administer the local affairs. On September 12, an irresponsible shot and killed Signor Armando Casarini, a Fascist deputy. In late November, several exposures were made charging Deputy Italo Balbo, generalissimo of the Fascist militia, with ordering the clubbing of opposition voters.

Through the recurrence of these adverse circumstances, Mussolini was able to retain his post as premier due to the large majority which the peculiar electoral law had given him. There was, however, a strong nucleus of former supporters arrayed against him. These included former Premiers Giolitti and Orlando and the ex-servicemen.

In the diplomatic field Mussolini's success was phenomenal. His negotiations with Yougo-Slavia brought a prize for which all other Italian governments had been angling since the war, namely, the annexation of Fiume to Italy. This treaty was signed on January 27. The King personally performed the formal ceremony of annexing Fiume to Italy on March 16, amidst the indescribable enthusiasm of the Italian inhabitants of the town and thousands who had journeyed from the rest of the kingdom.

A treaty favorable to Italy was signed with the Russian Soviets who were formally recognized by Italy on February 7. Numerous commercial and comity treaties followed. On July

Before a number of representatives of foreign powers, Mile. Finet dropped about a fifth of a mile at the Croydon aerodrome at Croydon, England. The parachute opened in two seconds and the descent was made safely in one minute, two seconds.

The future depends so much on the political situation. The present unpopularity of the Mussolini government may be overcome, but it still remains to make the situation uncertain. Despite the desertion of a large mass of the people from the Fascist idea, there has been a steady tendency to invest so that new companies in all branches of industry are steadily organizing.

The year of 1925 will be the Jubilee year of the Catholic church. This event is expected to bring between two million and four-million visitors to Rome from all parts of the world. This influx is calculated to benefit greatly the general wealth of the country and to serve to reduce the high rate of exchange from which Italy suffers.

The position of Italy in international affairs has been regarded as greatly enhanced by the numerous treaties. In December, the council of the League of Nations met in Rome.

In internal economic affairs, the country arrived at heights hitherto untouched since before the war. The Italian State budget which had an adverse balance of two billions at the beginning of 1924, has been balanced and fiscal measures undertaken by the ministry of finance are expected to greatly strengthen the state financially.

Adverse Trade Balance

The adverse trade balance was reduced from an average of 511 millions a month in 1923 to 483 millions a month in 1924. Besides, the increase in tourist expenditures in the country and emigrant remittances are figured to overcome that balance. Savings bank deposits increased from 32 billions on June 30, 1923 to 35 billions on June 30, 1924. Invested capital increased by 2,360 millions during 1924, while unemployment decreased from 280,765 on Jan. 1 to 115,541 on Sept. 1.

The firmness of Italian State bonds continues almost at par. This has been extremely encouraging, inasmuch as Italian State bonds were quoted at twelve points below par at the beginning of 1924.

NEW LAMP BURNS

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up; is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, J. E. Johansen, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Closing our books for the year without thanking our many customers and friends for the courtesies and consideration shown us, would leave one of our principal debts unpaid.

Therefore our entire organization extends our Best Wishes for a Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

K. O. VAMP! PLAIN GIRL IS THE NEW CHAMP

CLOTHES DO NOT MAKE VAMP.
SAYS HEDDA
HOYT

TIMES ARE CHANGING, THE DAY OF THE VAMP HAS PASSED

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Clothes don't make the vamp! Anyone laboring under that impression would do well to walk up Broadway some bright night and look at the girls in vampish clothes who are walking alone. Sensibly dressed girls trip along on the arms of their Valentines, as the vamps look on.

Times are changing and the day of the vamp is past. A man looks for more than a beauty spot and carmine lips when he feels the urge of sitting at a soda fountain sharing a soda with a dame. The doll with peroxide hair and baby stare and her competitor, the dreamy-eyed mysterious lady of the moving picture type are out of luck these days. "Like begets like" and men are looking for girls who are ordinary human beings like themselves. Girls with sensible clothes and with a knowledge of things that are going on in the world. Baby talk has no lure for them nor do drooping eyes gazing through mascaraed lashes.

Over half of the unescorted girls on Broadway are of the vamp type. And it is quite true that vamps are "made;" they do not grow that way. Make-up and eccentric dressing make the vamp and this being the case, it seems odd that girls do not unvamp and get in step with the regular girls who are coping all the men. The most popular girl today is not an over-dressed one. She wears not sable but muskrat in natural color. Her hat is small and free of trimming and her shoes and hosiery are sensible looking, and not mere satin and cobweb. She has no poses. Neither a lisp nor an accent. In other words, she is a plain everyday American girl! And girls of the vamp type would do well to give her the once-over!

Hats have a sudden way of changing their trimming in mid-season. Just now one sees the trimming placed on the very top of the crown, the trimming being either a little perky bow of ribbon, a tassel or a bunch of tiny ostrich plumes. While such a trim looks rather eccentric, it is very chic on some of the bobbed haired girls of youthful types.

Shoes with contrasting heels are being worn for evening wear. The popular silver brocade slipper will have silver kid heels or bright colored heels of kid which match the frock with which it is worn.

Winter has not cast gloom over the Spanish shawl. They are wearing them under the fur coat for evening. At the theatres one removes the fur wrap and sits draped in a vivid shawl. Small shawls of Spanish type are also popular. There is a decided vogue for the all white shawl worn with the white gown.

Evening corsages are either placed on the left shoulder or 'on the hip.' Orchids, red roses and poinsettias are the favorites just now.

At the Sunday night concerts of the Metropolitan the stars appear in evening gowns rather than in costumes. It is interesting to see what sort of gowns these singers choose. The singers this week included Jeritza, Alda, Penselle, Eaton and others. Jeritza who is very tall and has a mass of golden hair chose a simple black velvet frock with a V-shaped neckline, the sole ornamentation being diamond-shaped medallions placed on either hip to suggest a waistline.

Poincelle, one of the tallest women of the Opera and also the youngest, wore a dress suggesting the Directoire. It was made of black velvet with a tight-fitting basque and a skirt which was distended at the hips and of floor length. The neck of the gown was finished at the rear with a wide upstanding collar of silver lace.

Miss Eaton wore an orange colored frock of taffeta with a tight basque and a three-tiered ruffled skirt. Each ruffle of the skirt was trimmed with appliques of gold lace and the gown reminded one of those of Dresden dolls. Mme. Alda's frock was perhaps the most extreme worn by the Opera celebrities. It was of black velvet with a square-cut neckline and seen from the front it was simple indeed but as she left the stage the

Cooking Expert Keeps Her Dates Straight

MOST women find that preparing successful meals for their families is a "man's sized" job, enough to keep them busy. Mrs. Rose Amiot Salvail, manager of the cafeteria at Gimbel's, one of New York's big department stores, feeds her huge family of hundreds of shoppers daily, and also personally attends to her home cooking for two. After her day's work in the cafeteria, Mrs. Salvail hurries home so as to have her husband's dinner ready by the time he returns.

Besides her double job, Mrs. Salvail writes articles for women's magazines on her subject, for she is an authority on cooking, and, as former manager of the Women's University Club restaurant, has invented many a delicious "creation."

Probably it is because, with her many duties, Mrs. Salvail has learned to keep her dates straight, that her "Date Goodies" are so successful. Here is her recipe:

1 1/2 cup Dates
1 cup Walnut Meats (chopped)
1/2 cup Sugar
2 Eggs
1/2 cup Flour
1 teaspoonful Vanilla
1 teaspoonful Baking Powder
1 1/2 teaspoonfuls Crisco

Stone and mince the dates, add chopped walnut meats. Sift over them the half cup of flour. Mix with baking powder, salt, sugar and melted Crisco. Mix thoroughly. Beat whites of eggs and yolks separately and mix in yolks with previous mixture. Beat whites of eggs stiff and fold in with mixture. Add vanilla. Bake slowly for twenty minutes in shallow pan. Cool a little. Cut in bars and dust powdered sugar.

Note—Our readers may obtain free a new 80 page cook book by addressing the National Cooking Service, 565 Fifth Avenue, New York City.

HOW GREAT MEN MAKE LOVE AS REVEALED BY THEIR LOVE LETTERS

THE WEBSTERS

THERE was a delightful camaraderie between Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster. Mrs. Webster had been Miss Grace Fletcher, the daughter of a minister of Hopkinton; the great American statesman had married when his future was already assured and there after they shared the fame that came to them.

"My dear love—" writes Webster from Washington, recounting his actions for the previous day. "Mrs. Brown gave her first party last night and having occasion to go to the President's I called on my return. It was the assemblage fully much of a Washington party of last year. Mrs. Johnston was there and spoke of you with great kindness and inquired for you very particularly. . . . Many other ladies (and gentlemen too!) asked after your welfare with much apparent interest and one of them pronounced you a favorite of the whole city."

Two days later came another missive, containing another report and: "My dear love. . . . I send you a little package in which, when you have taken all the wrappings off and opened it, you will find two little bits of articles designed as presents (they were diamond pins). One of them, if you will like, you will place in your own cap; and the other in Col. Page's ruff. Give him a box on the ear and tell him to be a good boy. . . . If you do not fancy yours you can return it to me in the same little box and I will take it back again. . . . Now adieu, my love."

Flowers' Slumber Time

There are some flowers—the crocus, for instance—that sleep not only at night, but all the winter under the ground, in the form of a bulb. All early spring flowers are especially hardy, and most of them are protected by a tough sheath round the bud, which only bursts when the sun is strong enough to kiss the sleeping beauty into life.

FARM STOCK

MARKET DEMAND IS FOR FINISHED BEEF

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Well-fattened beef animals weighing from 800 to 1,200 pounds have been in demand on live stock markets during recent years, rather than animals of greater weight. This has been the result of a demand by beef consumers for lightweight, high-grade cuts. Such a demand, says the United States Department of Agriculture, must necessarily be supplied by well-finished animals from 12 to 20 months old carrying a large percentage of the blood of the early-maturing beef breeds—usually that of the Hereford, Aberdeen-Angus, or Shorthorn.

The preparation for market of yearlings, or baby beefs, requires more skill than is necessary for the production of animals marketed at more mature ages, on account of their tendency to grow rather than to fatten. To fatten yearlings successfully, they must be placed on a fattening ration when they are weaned and kept on full feed until they are ready for marketing. Every effort should be made to get the calves through the weaning period without loss of their milk fat. The grain ration should be increased so as to permit as little change in their rate of growth in fattening as possible. Some feeders build "creeps" in the pastures or lots so that the calves can get their grain without being disturbed by cows. Creeps consist of small pens with openings which permit only the calves to enter. These openings may have rollers on each side to prevent bruising the calves.

Calves from heavy milking cows should be weaned gradually over a period of 10 to 15 days. Fall calves should not be weaned until after the cows and calves are on grass. Spring calves should either be kept on grass after weaning in the fall, or be given some succulent feed such as silage. It is advisable to provide them with winter pasturage such as wheat, oats, rye or barley when soil and climatic conditions permit.

K. O. VAMP! PLAIN GIRL IS THE NEW CHAMP

CLOTHES DO NOT MAKE VAMP, SAYS HEDDA
HOYT

TIMES ARE CHANGING, THE DAY OF THE VAMP HAS PASSED

By HEDDA HOYT
(Fashion Editor of the United Press)
(Written for the United Press)

New York, N. Y., Dec. 26.—Clothes don't make the vamp! Anyone laboring under that impression would do well to walk up Broadway some bright night and look at the girls in vampish clothes who are walking alone. Sensibly dressed girls trip along on the arms of their Valentines as the vamps look on.

Times are changing and the day of the vamp is past. A man looks for more than a beauty spot and carmine lips when he feels the urge of sitting at a soda fountain sharing a soda with a dame. The doll with peroxide hair and baby stare and her competitor, the dreamy-eyed mysterious lady of the moving picture type are out of luck these days. "Like begets like" and men are looking for girls who are ordinary human beings like themselves. Girls with sensible clothes and with a knowledge of things that are going on in the world. Baby talk has no lure for them nor do drooping eyes gazing through mascaraed lashes.

Over half of the unescorted girls on Broadway are of the vamp type. And it is quite true that vamps are "made;" they do not grow that way. Make-up and eccentric dressing make the vamp and this being the case, it seems odd that girls do not unvamp and get in step with the regular girls who are coping all the men. The most popular girl today is not an over-dressed one. She wears not sable but muskrat in natural color. Her hat is small and free of trimming and her shoes and hosiery are sensible looking, and not mere satin and cobweb. She has no poses. Neither a lisp nor an accent. In other words, she is a plain everyday American girl! And girls of the vamp type would do well to give her the once-over!

Hats have a sudden way of changing their trimming in mid-season. Just now one sees the trimming placed on the very top of the crown, the trimming being either a little perky bow of ribbon, a tassel or a bunch of tiny ostrich plumes. While such a trim looks rather eccentric, it is very chic on some of the bobbed haired girls of youthful types.

Shoes with contrasting heels are being worn for evening wear. The popular silver brocade slipper will have silver kid heels or bright colored heels of kid which match the frock with which it is worn.

Winter has not cast gloom over the Spanish shawl. They are wearing them under the fur coat for evening. At the theatres one removes the fur wrap and sits draped in a vivid shawl. Small shawls of Spanish type are also popular. There is a decided vogue for the all white shawl worn with the white gown.

Evening corsages are either placed on the left shoulder or on the hip. Orchids, red roses and poinsettias are the favorites just now.

At the Sunday night concerts of the Metropolitan the stars appear in evening gowns rather than in costumes. It is interesting to see what sort of gowns these singers choose. The singers this week included Jeritza, Alda, Penselle, Eaton and others. Jeritza who is very tall and has a mass of golden hair chose a simple black velvet frock with a V-shaped neckline, the sole ornamentation being diamond-shaped medallions placed on either hip to suggest a waistline.

Poinsette, one of the tallest women of the Opera and also the youngest, wore a dress suggesting the Directoire. It was made of black velvet with a tight-fitting basque and a skirt which was distended at the hips and of floor length. The neck of the gown was finished at the rear with a wide upstanding collar of silver lace.

Miss Eaton wore an orange colored frock of taffeta with a tight basque and a three-tiered ruffled skirt. Each ruffle of the skirt was trimmed with appliques of gold lace and the gown reminded one of those of Dresden dolls. Mme. Alda's frock was perhaps the most extreme worn by the Opera celebrities. It was of black velvet with a square-cut neckline and seen from the front it was simple indeed but as she left the stage the

MOST women find that preparing successful meals for their families is a "man's sized" job, enough to keep them busy. Mrs. Rose Amiot Salvail, manager of the cafeteria at Gimbel's, one of New York's big department stores, feeds her huge family of hundreds of shoppers daily, and also personally attends to her home cooking for two. After her day's work in the cafeteria, Mrs. Salvail hurries home so as to have her husband's dinner ready by the time he returns.

Besides her double job, Mrs. Salvail writes articles for women's magazines on her subject, for she is an authority on cooking, and, as former manager of the Women's University Club restaurant, has invented many a delicious "creation."

Probably it is because, with her many duties, Mrs. Salvail has learned to keep her dates straight, that her "Date Goodies" are so successful. Here is her recipe:

1 1/2 cup Dates
1 cup Walnut Meats (chopped)
1/2 cup Sugar
2 Eggs
1/2 cup Flour
1 teaspoonful Vanilla
1 teaspoonful Baking Powder
1 1/2 teaspoonfuls Crisco

Stone and mince the dates, add chopped walnut meats. Sift over them the half cup of flour. Mix with baking powder, salt, sugar and melted Crisco. Mix thoroughly. Beat whites of eggs and yolks separately and mix in yolks with previous mixture. Beat whites of eggs stiff and fold in with mixture. Add vanilla. Bake slowly for twenty minutes in shallow pan. Cool a little. Cut in bars and dust powdered sugar.

GERMANY SEES HOPE IN PROMISE OF NEW YEAR

DAWES AND YOUNG ARE CON-SULTED OVER FEVERED
NATION

THEIR PRESCRIPTION IS BEING TAKEN WITH HIGH HOPE OF CURE

(By United Press)
Berlin, Dec. 26.—Germany is completing a year of reason and reconstruction—the first since the war.
Just as madness marked the year 1923, so did common sense and a forward looking-spirit mark the year just closing.

The last vestiges of the insane, destructive inflation period were wiped out and stability and conservatism stepped to the fore.

The beginning of the year 1924 saw Germany passing through a convalescence crisis. It was shaking off the last of the inflation illness, and having a hard time getting through the recovery days. Credit was frightfully short; business was stagnant; and many firms were toppling day by day. Banks demanded interest running from 50 to 100 per cent per year.

Then came General Dawes, Owen
Young and the other Dawes Plan experts. They sat as doctors in consultation over the fevered-inflation patient. Their verdict was that there was nothing intrinsically wrong with Germany. She was a going concern, a nation of sixty million with a patient, efficient, hardworking population. These experts opined that such a nation would not crumble if given a bit of support and something like a breathing spell.

The majority of the nation held the same view. The nationalists, however, held that the Dawes plan would cripple rather than aid Germany so they fought it to the last ditch, collapsing only at the 11th hour in the Reichstag.

Dawes Plan Turning Point

The acceptance of the Dawes plan laws in the Reichstag marked the real turning point in German affairs.
Unemployment, which last winter reached 1 3-4 millions or more, had been cut by the end of this year to a
with business in general looking up.

On the political side of things, Germany tended also to greater sanity.
The putsch spirit of the fascists and communists died with the ill-fated beer-cellar coup of Hitler and Luden-dorff. The Dawes plan further helped to put an end to the wild radicalism of these two extreme groups.
In May, a new Reichstag was elected, with the nationalists showing greater strength than previously, but the government was still the middle block which had hitherto ruled. One of the remarkable features of the last Reichstag was the presence therein of General Ludendorff, tried but freed of a treason charge as a result of his part in the Hitler putsch.
Though he never opened his mouth in the Reichstag, Ludendorff continued throughout the year to play a leading role in fascisti matters.

In the fall, after the nationalists demanded their pound of flesh for voting favorably on the Dawes plan, a new cabinet crisis came, and elections were held on December 7th.
These elections clearly indicated the weakening of the monarchists on one side and the communists on the other.
The victory was for the carrying out of the Dawes plan and the continuance of the German Republic.
No one of the many parties favor-

Germany Regains Pride

In the realm of scientific achievement the year was marked by the completion of the American reparation Zeppelin ZR-3 with its successful transfer from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N. J., U. S. A. This event, with its favorable impression in America, had far reaching effects in Germany. It tended to create an unified national pride and national spirit which had been lacking to a great degree since the war.

Germany looks out on the future with a great deal of more confidence than at any time since the war.
Though she still has to contend with numerous troubles, such as high costs of living, high taxation and the like, there is nevertheless an air of serenity and a great deal more of well-being than has been the case since the war.

There are many prophets who foresee that the Dawes plan has not brought the millenium as its warmest advocates predicted. Germany will fulfill her obligations if that is humanly possible, according to all in touch with the national policy.

But many foresee that the Dawes plan is only a temporary thing which will require a new reparation adjustment probably within another year.
Germany is rapidly being freed of French occupation, and the nation as a whole prefers a sensible and reasonable payment of reparations to sanctions of Poincareites.

This is a hopeful symptom which justifies the statement that Germany is very much on the mend.

When a chewing gum concern can declare an extra dividend and pay a court judgment of $1,471,000 at the same time, it is evident that ours is a nation of jaws as well as laws.—

JOHN GILBERT in "ROMANCE RANCH"—William Fox production

Tonight is your last chance to witness "Romance Ranch" at the Lyceum Theatre. If you love romance, love scenes, in a picturesque Spanish setting, with the fire of Spanish passion burning through every one of them, do not miss this new production in which the popular John Gilbert is starred.

Glenn Hunter and Viola Dana in the Paramount Picture "Merton of the Movies" A James Cruze Production

"Merton of the Movies," showing at the New Park last time tonight, the deliciously satirical comedy-drama of Hollywood's movieland, is "the picture with the perfect cast."

Jesse L. Lasky, first vice-president of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation in charge of production, made that statement after announcing the complete roster of noted players to appear in the screen version of Harry Leon Wilson's popular novel and play.

James Cruze, the man who made "The Covered Wagon" and other notable recent Paramount successes, directed "Merton." It is a story of a movie-struck country youth who goes penniless to Hollywood, meets adversities and indifference, but eventually wins stardom through the guidance of a picture-wise girl.

Glenn Hunter, the "Merton" who captivated the New York stage, has the starring role. Viola Dana, petite star, is featured opposite him as Sally "Flips" Montague, the super-movie-sophisticated actress who leads his dangling feet to the dizzy heights of success.

There are seventeen young artists, every one of them being a rising star in the theatrical firmament—the oldest Jimmie Coghill, known as the young Harry Lauder, is just twelve years old. They range from him down to charming little Franke Bird, the youngest member of the company, who is five years old and incidentally is the most youthful eccentric acrobatic dancer in America today.

Included in the company that is traveling this way, are a school teacher, a professional nurse and a guardian. The children have to attend school each day and have their lessons just the same as all other boys and girls, with the added advantage of being able to study the geography of their own country by actually traveling through it. Sickness is something that is not known by the members of the company, as their food is all arranged for by the nurse, and with their daily exercises regulated they are indeed well cared for.

One of the Winnipeg Kiddies

Harry Carey in an Unusual Role

If you dislike the usual Western picture, you are in for a pleasant surprise.

On the other hand, if you like Westerns with action and thrills galore, here's the treat of your life.

"The Night Hawk," the new Hunt

Stromberg production starring Harry Carey which comes to the Lyceum Theatre Saturday, one day only, is said to be as different from other Westerns as "The Lightning Rider," Carey's last picture, was different from the usual Harry Carey feature. Crammed to the brim with action and telling a story of tense dramatic interest, it offers something more in a genuine characterization by the star. As a cowboy Galahad, slow of gait, easy going by nature, Carey is given the opportunity of putting in many of the little human touches for which he is noted. When he is called upon to protect a girl whom he has never seen, however, he suffers a strange metamorphosis and assumes all the characteristics of the title.

Scene from "THE NIGHT HAWK" A Hodgkinson Picture

GERMANY SEES HOPE IN PROMISE OF NEW YEAR

DAWES AND YOUNG ARE CON- SULTED OVER FEVERED NATION

THEIR PRESCRIPTION IS BEING TAKEN WITH HIGH HOPE OF CURE

(By United Press)
Berlin, Dec. 26.—Germany is completing a year of reason and reconstruction—the first since the war.

Just as madness marked the year 1923, so did common sense and a forward looking-spirit mark the year just closing.

The last vestiges of the insane, destructive inflation period were wiped out and stability and conservatism stepped to the fore.

The beginning of the year 1924 saw Germany passing through a convalescence crisis. It was shaking off the last of the inflation illness, and having a hard time getting through the recovery days. Credit was frightfully short; business was stagnant; and many firms were toppling day by day. Banks demanded interest running from 50 to 100 per cent per year.

Then came General Dawes, Owen Young and the other Dawes Plan experts. They sat as doctors in consultation over the fevered-inflation patient. Their verdict was that there was nothing intrinsically wrong with Germany. She was a going concern, a nation of sixty million with a patient, efficient, hardworking population. These experts opined that such a nation would not crumble if given a bit of support and something like a breathing spell.

The majority of the nation held the same view. The nationalists, however, held that the Dawes plan would cripple rather than aid Germany so they fought it to the last ditch, collapsing only at the 11th hour in the Reichstag.

Dawes Plan Turning Point

The acceptance of the Dawes plan laws in the Reichstag marked the real turning point in German affairs. Unemployment, which last winter reached 1 3-4 millions or more, had been cut by the end of this year to a figure around 300 to 400 thousand with business in general looking up.

On the political side of things, Germany tended also to greater sanity. The putsch spirit of the fascisti and communists died with the ill-fated beer-cellar coup of Hitler and Ludendorff. The Dawes plan further helped to put an end to the wild radicalism of these two extreme groups. In May, a new Reichstag was elected, with the nationalists showing greater strength than previously, but the government was still the middle block which had hitherto ruled. One of the remarkable features of the last Reichstag was the presence therein of General Ludendorff, tried but freed of a treason charge as a result of his part in the Hitler putsch. Though he never opened his mouth in the Reichstag, Ludendorff continued throughout the year to play a leading role in fascisti matters.

In the fall, after the nationalists demanded their pound of flesh for voting favorably on the Dawes plan, a new cabinet crisis came, and elections were held on December 7th. These elections clearly indicated the weakening of the monarchists on one side and the communists on the other. The victory was for the carrying out of the Dawes plan and the continuance of the German Republic. No one of the many parties favorable to the Republic had a majority but the elements involved indicated clear continued Republican control of the Reichstag by a party combination.

Had Also Served as Municipal Judge, For Many Years Was Chairman Republican County Committee

Clifton A. Allbright, judge of probate, and well known throughout Crow Wing county, where he has resided for many years, passed away suddenly about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He had been in prominent in politics. Casting his lot with the Republican party he has held responsible posts, among which are chairman of the Republican county committee, in which capacity he served for many years, and chairman of the Republican Sixth District congressional committee.

He was elected municipal judge, serving for one term. On the death of J. T. Sanborn, in September, 1923, Mr. Allbright was appointed to complete the term as probate judge, which term would have expired January 1st.

Being an admirer of the late Senator Knute Nelson, Judge Allbright undertook the raising of a fund in Crow Wing County this fall, to assist in the Nelson memorial, a statewide movement.

Mr. Allbright was united in marriage on November 9th, 1916 to Miss Winnifred Smith. One child, Kath-

Clifton A. Allbright, judge of probate, and well known throughout Crow Wing county, where he has resided for many years, passed away suddenly about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He had been in prominent in politics. Casting his lot with the Republican party he has held responsible posts, among which are chairman of the Republican county committee, in which capacity he served for many years, and chairman of the Republican Sixth District congressional committee.

He was elected municipal judge, serving for one term. On the death of J. T. Sanborn, in September, 1923, Mr. Allbright was appointed to complete the term as probate judge, which term would have expired January 1st.

Being an admirer of the late Senator Knute Nelson, Judge Allbright undertook the raising of a fund in Crow Wing County this fall, to assist in the Nelson memorial, a statewide movement.

Life's drama, in a major sense, is a conflict between man and his environment. Savings and wise investments are forces which validate the human will, making it possible for an individual to determine the future economic status of his family.

Congress promptly passed the appropriation bill for the Department of the Interior. Just like the average man. Always thinking of the interior first.—Des Moines Register.

Arrests Made by Two

Patrolman Fred J. Marquis who testified in the examination of George Shanks and Ole Rodman, wishes to correct any false impression that readers of the account of that case may have formed as to the officers who made the arrests of these two men.

Mr. Marquis states that Capt. Erick Graff was in charge on that case, and that the arrests were made by Messrs Graff and Marquis together.

ill health for nearly a year, but was somewhat improved and had been attending to his duties in connection with the judgeship for several months. On Wednesday afternoon he became ill while at his office, and was taken home where he died a short time later.

Judge Allbright was born September 2nd, 1872, in Iowa. He came to Minnesota when nine years of age, first living with his father on a farm near Mille Laes. He came to Brainerd when 19 years old and entered the high school, from which he graduated. He is also a graduate of the college of law of the University of Minnesota, and has since been a practicing attorney in Brainerd.

Judge Allbright has always been a resident of this union, who, with her mother, survive. One brother of the deceased, Arthur, is living in Iowa.

Mr. Allbright was prominently identified with the Elks lodge of Brainerd, of which he had been a member for many years. He is past exalted ruler of the local lodge and was trustee for a number of years. He also held membership in the Black Hawk club, being president of that organization the past year.

The funeral was held from the home, 507 Kingwood street, at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, Rev. N. P. Olmsted officiating. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

The bereaved family has the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

Nelson-Peabody

Miss Madge B. Peabody, and R. E. Nelson were united in marriage on Christmas morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. A. G. Patterson reading the ceremony. The attendants were the bride's brother and his wife.

The marriage occurred at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peabody, 1409 Rosewood street. The groom is a resident of St. Paul, where the newlyweds will make their future home. The Dispatch offers congratulations and best wishes.

BASEBALL SCANDAL STILL UP TO LANDIS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 26.—As was to have been expected from the earlier tendency of baseball to talk lightly about the New York Giant scandal, the annual winter meetings of the major league club owners passed with only veiled references to the attempt at bribery which caused Cozy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell to be banished from baseball.

The National League passed resolutions endorsing the administration of Commissioner Landis and praising the way the scandal was handled by the Commissioner and John A. Heydler, the National League president. Heydler in his annual report said it was about time for the National League to be freed from the attacks of an unnamed person. Perhaps it was meant as a slap at Ban Johnson, who said some nasty things about the league and some of its members when the Dolan-O'Connell scandal was made public.

The American League also took an indirect slap at its president by passing resolutions assuring the Commissioner that the American League was with him and by appointing a committee to attempt a reconciliation between Johnson and Landis.

But the only reference to the scandal was contained in a National League resolution that the investigation of the Dolan-O'Connell case never would be dropped.

Perhaps if Commissioner Landis had been able to preside over the joint meetings of the two leagues something might have leaked out about the inside of the scandal. Everyone believes there was an inside to it even if the club owners would have it believed that everything has been told and that there isn't any more to tell.

If it is true that there is nothing more to the scandal than what has been made public, why doesn't the commissioner of baseball make public the testimony that was taken from Dolan and O'Connell? If there is more to the scandal than what has been related and if the publication of the testimony would give away any information that might block further investigation, why doesn't Commissioner Landis say so?

In the handling of the 1919 baseball scandal, baseball was dealing with a public that had so much faith in the integrity of professional baseball that it wouldn't believe the stories of corruption told about the White Sox players. When the confessions were made public, the first shock was followed by a skeptical opinion, "How long has this been going on?"

In handling this latest scandal, baseball seems to believe that it has the same kind of a public in the jury box and that its public simply will not believe that there is nothing wrong when the magnates say there isn't.

DEATH OF BELMONT BLOW TO TURF

International horse racing, which was well on the way toward an annual fixture after two successful experiments had been conducted in this country, may suffer a serious setback in the death of Major August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club of America and the sponsor of the international races held here in the last two years.

It was Major Belmont who induced the owner of Papyrus, the winner of the English Derby, to send his thoroughbred here in 1923 for a match against Zev, the American champion, and it was Major Belmont who arranged the invasion this year of Epinard, the great French champion.

While he was not the kind who would boast of it or even admit it, there were rumors in racing circles that the late chairman of the Jockey Club assumed all the financial risks involved in bringing the two European thoroughbreds to the United States and took the chance of getting at least some of his money back if the international races were not accepted kindly by the public.

Major Belmont was perhaps the nearest thing to the ideal sportsman in this country. His big hobby was the thoroughbred. He lived for racing and fought for racing and if the sport didn't have as its leader a man of such high character and established reputation in the financial and social worlds, it is unlikely that the race tracks in New York would now be operating.

When racing was defended as a sport that was conducted principally for the purpose of improving the breed of the horse, reformers chuckled and remarked that racing was nothing but a game to bet on. When he was given the chance, Belmont proved that racing was popular without even oral betting.

There was never an act of Belmont's that could have been associated with commercialism. He never pocketed a cent of profit from the beautiful course he owned and operated at Belmont Park, a track that he had ambitions to make the equal in tradition and in class of the famous courses in England and the continent. Every nickel of profit earned at his track went into the improvement of the course.

Three Cycling Marks Are Broken in Paris

More records went by the board at the new Montlhery autodrome in the presence of 20,000 spectators.

M. Brunier, a French bicyclist, paced by heavy motor cycles, went 100 kilometers (62.14 miles) in 53 minutes 24 seconds and 112.44 kilometers (approximately 70 miles) in one hour.

Vanderstuyft, the Belgian rider, paced by the regulation motor cycles, lowered his own world record by traveling 81.9 kilometers (approximately 51 miles) in 1 hour.

Another record went to Marchant, who covered 10 kilometers (6.21 miles) in 4 minutes 15.3 seconds, using a 500 cubic centimeter cylinder machine.

Opinion of St. Andrews on Larger Golf Balls

The opinion of St. Andrews on the American suggestion to make the golf balls larger and lighter will not receive hearty approval from certain golfing leaders in this country. They will be the men who want the golf ball made larger and lighter. The signs of St. Andrews do not want to make the golf ball either larger or lighter.

St. Andrews says the change is so slight that it is not worth making and St. Andrews seems correct in its view. Also, why this constant harping about golf balls? The popularity of golf seems to be the best available answer to this question of size and weight of ball, says the Detroit News. The present style is apparently satisfactory and since it is, why insist upon a change?

The late Mark Hanna was a shrewd and wise politician and one of the smartest things the late Mark Hanna ever said was, "Always let well enough alone." The sages of St. Andrews apparently have the same golden rule that the late Mark Hanna carried.

Englishman Wins Large Sum on $50 Parley Bet

Rebuffed at every turn by Lady Luck in a decade of gambling on the English turf results, picking winners when they didn't run and losers when they did, George Lathan Brown of Pittsburgh, machinist and British by birth, is ready to settle down for a while with a winning of $42,500 on a $50 parlay ticket bought on an English horse in London last March.

Brown was informed that the $42,500 was ready for him. He tried to sell the ticket after his horse won his first race in May, but could not find a buyer. The horse won the second race during August and the third straight several days ago.

Urban Shocker, Back with Yankees, and Bush Who Was Sent to St. Louis Browns in Trade

After spending seven years with the Browns, Shocker, right-handed spit ball pitcher, will play again for the New York American League club. The Yankees paid a stiff price, representing in cash about $40,000. For Shocker the Browns get "Bullet Joe" Bush, veteran right-handed pitcher; Milton Gaston, a right-hander and considered one of the best relief pitchers in either major league, and Joe Glard, a left-handed pitcher. Glard was sought by both the Yankees and the Browns from the Toledo American Association club. He won twenty games last year. Shocker is shown above at the left and Bush at the right.

GORDON (KID) COCHRANE, WHO COST THE ATHLETICS $50,000 AND 5 PLAYERS

Cochrane is one of the latest sensations in big league baseball. It is reported that Connie Mack had to give up $50,000 and five players to obtain him for the Philadelphia American League team. Cochrane has played but one year in the minors and then with the Portland, Ore., club. His home is at Bridgewater, Mass.

Nature's "Cold Storage"

An avalanche that swept across a road near Rochetallie, France, not long ago dropped a huge block of ice that contained the carcass of a wild boar. Just how the boar became imbedded in the ice is not clear, but probably it was caught in the slide, and the mass of snow, closing round it, solidified and thus converted it into cold-storage pork.—Youth's Companion.

BASEBALL SCANDAL STILL UP TO LANDIS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Dec. 26.—As was to have been expected from the earlier tendency of baseball to talk lightly about the New York Giant scandal, the annual winter meetings of the major league club owners passed with only veiled references to the attempt at bribery which caused Cozy Dolan and Jimmy O'Connell to be banished from baseball.

The National League passed resolutions endorsing the administration of Commissioner Landis and praising the way the scandal was handled by the Commissioner and John A. Heydler, the National League president. Heydler in his annual report said it was about time for the National League to be freed from the attacks of an unnamed person. Perhaps it was meant as a slap at Ban Johnson, who said some nasty things about the league and some of its members when the Dolan-O'Connell scandal was made public.

The American League also took an indirect slap at its president by passing resolutions assuring the Commissioner that the American League was with him and by appointing a committee to attempt a reconciliation between Johnson and Landis.

But the only reference to the scandal was contained in a National League resolution that the investigation of the Dolan-O'Connell case never would be dropped.

Perhaps if Commissioner Landis had been able to preside over the joint meetings of the two leagues something might have leaked out about the inside of the scandal. Everyone believes there was an inside to it even if the club owners would have it believed that everything has been told and that there isn't any more to tell.

If it is true that there is nothing more to the scandal than what has been made public, why doesn't the commissioner of baseball make public the testimony that was taken from Dolan and O'Connell? If there is more to the scandal than what has been related and if the publication of the testimony would give away any information that might block further investigation, why doesn't Commissioner Landis say so?

In the handling of the 1919 baseball scandal, baseball was dealing with a public that had so much faith in the integrity of professional baseball that it wouldn't believe the stories of corruption told about the White Sox players. When the confessions were made public, the first shock was followed by a skeptical opinion, "How long has this been going on?"

In handling this latest scandal, baseball seems to believe that it has the same kind of a public in the jury box and that its public simply will not believe that there is nothing wrong when the magnates say there isn't.

DEATH OF BELMONT BLOW TO TURF

International horse racing, which was well on the way toward an annual fixture after two successful experiments had been conducted in this country, may suffer a serious setback in the death of Major August Belmont, chairman of the Jockey Club of America and the sponsor of the international races held here in the last two years.

It was Major Belmont who induced the owner of Papyrus, the winner of the English Derby, to send his thoroughbred here in 1923 for a match against Zev, the American champion, and it was Major Belmont who arranged the invasion this year of Epineur, the great French champion.

While he was not the kind who would boast of it or even admit it, there were rumors in racing circles that the late chairman of the Jockey Club assumed all the financial risks involved in bringing the two European thoroughbreds to the United States and took the chance of getting at least some of his money back if the international races were not accepted kindly by the public.

Major Belmont was perhaps the nearest thing to the ideal sportsman in this country. His big hobby was the thoroughbred. He lived for racing and fought for racing and if the sport didn't have as its leader a man of such high character and established reputation in the financial and social worlds, it is unlikely that the race tracks in New York would now be operating.

When racing was defended as a sport that was conducted principally for the purpose of improving the breed of the horse, reformers chuckled and remarked that racing was nothing but a game to bet on. When he was given the chance, Belmont proved that racing was popular without even oral betting.

There was never an act of Belmont's that could have been associated with commercialism. He never pocketed a cent of profit from the beautiful course he owned and operated at Belmont Park, a track that he had ambitions to make the equal in tradition and in class of the famous courses in England and the continent. Every nickel of profit earned at his track went into the improvement of the course.

Three Cycling Marks Are Broken in Paris

More records went by the board at the new Montlhery autodrome in the presence of 20,000 spectators.

M. Brunier, a French bicyclist, paced by heavy motor cycles, went 100 kilometers (62.14 miles) in 53 minutes 24 seconds and 112.44 kilometers (approximately 70 miles) in one hour.

Vanderstuyft, the Belgian rider, paced by the regulation motor cycles, lowered his own world record by traveling 81.9 kilometers (approximately 51 miles) in 1 hour.

Another record went to Marchant, who covered 10 kilometers (6.21 miles) in 4 minutes 15 3/5 seconds, using a 500 cubic centimeter cylinder machine.

Opinion of St. Andrews on Larger Golf Balls

The opinion of St. Andrews on the American suggestion to make the golf balls larger and lighter will not receive hearty approval from certain golfing leaders in this country. They will be the men who want the golf ball made larger and lighter. The sages of St. Andrews do not want to make the golf ball either larger or lighter.

St. Andrew's says the change is so slight that it is not worth making and St. Andrew's seems correct in its view. Also, why this constant harping about golf balls? The popularity of golf seems to be the best available answer to this question of size and weight of ball, says the Detroit News. The present style is apparently satisfactory and since it is, why insist upon a change?

The late Mark Hanna was a shrewd and wise politician and one of the smartest things the late Mark Hanna ever said was, "Always let well enough alone." The sages of St. Andrews apparently have the same golden rule that the late Mark Hanna carried.

Englishman Wins Large Sum on $50 Parley Bet

Rebuffed at every turn by Lady Luck in a decade of gambling on the English turf results, picking winners when they didn't run and losers when they did, George Lathian Brown of Pittsburgh, machinist and British by birth, is ready to settle down for a while with a winning of $42,500 on a $50 parley ticket bought on an English horse in London last March.

Brown was informed that the $42,500 was ready for him. He tried to sell the ticket after his horse won his first race in May, but could not find a buyer. The horse won the second race during August and the third straight several days ago.

Urban Shocker, Back with Yankees, and Bush Who Was Sent to St. Louis Browns in Trade

After spending seven years with the Browns, Shocker, right-handed spit ball pitcher, will play again for the New York American League club. The Yankees paid a stiff price, representing in cash about $40,000. For Shocker the Browns get "Bullet Joe" Bush, veteran right-handed pitcher; Milton Gaston, a right-hander and considered

GORDON (KID) COCHRANE, WHO COST THE ATHLETICS $50,000 AND 5 PLAYERS

Cochrane is one of the latest sensations in big league baseball. It is reported that Connie Mack had to give up $50,000 and five players to obtain him for the Philadelphia American League team. Cochrane has played but one year in the minors and then with the Portland, Ore., club. His home is at Bridgewater, Mass.

Nature's "Cold Storage"

An avalanche that swept across a road near Rochetaille, France, not long ago dropped a huge block of ice that contained the carcass of a wild boar. Just how the boar became imbedded in the ice is not clear, but probably it was caught in the slide, and the mass of snow, closing round it, solidified and thus converted it into cold-storage pork.—Youth's Companion.
